HAVE MEN ENOUGH

Illinois Central Shops Now Steady at Work on Repairs.

No Reduction in Force Is Expected This Fall—Much Work To Be Done Yet.

CHIEF ENGINEER WAS HERE

For the past several weeks men have been added to the already large forces in the woodworking department of the local Illinois Central shops, as there has been abundance of work, but now the company has enough men and is taking in no more. The company has had a great deal of repairing in this department and have turned out many new cars, most of them being cabooses, in the past several months.

This morning an official of the road said that no cut in the forces of the machinery department was expected for many weeks yet, if at all this winter, as the work is plentiful and the engines will have to be repaired for use this winter. The number of accidents in the past summer has filled all the stalls of local shops and several engines are now waiting turns for repairs.

Chief Engineer H. U. Wallace arrived in the city yesterday afternoon on the first section of freight train No. 186 and left shortly afterwards on a special train for the Louisville division of the road. He arrived about 4 o'clock and went over the Cairo branch of the road before leaving. He is pleased with the progress made and the work so far completed. At 5:15 his special train left for Louisville and he will probably remain on this division for several days.

OPERATORS TO YIELD.

JOHN W. GATES PREDICTS THE END OF THE COAL STRIKE.

London, Oct. 9.—John W. Gates, who with Mrs. Gates, sailed for America today on the Oceanic, is confident that the coal strike is near its end.

"Long before the Oceanic reaches New York," said Mr. Gates, "the coal strike will be settled. It has reached its culmination. I think President Roosevelt has sent word to Mr. Mitchell, leader of the strikers, that the only way the affair can be adjusted with credit to himself is for Mr. Mitchell to send the men back to work at once and Mr. Roosevelt's pledge that he would use every effort to induce the operators to agree to arbitrate. Two railroad presidents told me that they would never agree to such a course. But I think pressure will be brought to bear upon them."

"I think the market is growing firmer now," said Mr. Gates in answer to a question. "I am confident it will be quite strong before many days."

"Do you think Mr. Morgan is having much to do with a settlement of the strike?"

"Most certainly," replied Mr. Gates. "I tell you this affair has gripped Mr. Morgan. He really cares nothing for money except for the power it brings. When he forms a syndicate he gives 90 per cent of it to his friends. He is one of the most kindhearted of men. I think his efforts will have much to do with a settlement of the strike."

Mrs. R. S. Coleman of Princeton is in the city today.
